 - a. Illegal. The late-arriving player cannot be added to the lineup once it has been accepted by the plate umpire.

6. Team A is in the third-base dugout and is on offense. B1 is left-handed. For his safety, B1 uses the on-deck circle near the first base.
 - a. Legal.
 - b. Legal. NFHS rules allow the plate umpire to allow this.
 - c. Illegal. The offense must use the on-deck circle on their side of the field. The umpires are not empowered to change this.

7. Team A is now on defense in the bottom of the 4th inning. At the conclusion of the top of the 4th inning, Team A left a batting helmet in live-ball territory. B4 hits a pop fly ball that in in foul territory. F3 moves to catch the fly ball and trips over the batting helmet. The umpire judges the ball was catchable, and F3 would have caught the ball had he not tripped over the helmet left on the field. The umpire may declare B4 out.
 - a. True. That the equipment that F3 tripped over belongs to his own team is irrelevant.
 - b. False. F3 should not benefit from his team's carelessness.

8. B4 hits an out of the park home run. As B4 approaches the plate he intentionally removes his helmet and tosses it into the air in apparent celebration of the home run. B4 then jumps onto the plate.
 - a. Illegal. B4 is returned to third base, which is the last base legally touched before he intentionally removed his helmet.

 - a. No, what B4 did is legal.
 - b. Yes, B4's action was illegal. B4 is required to request time before adjusting his helmet.

10. Team A is on defense. F1 throws four balls to B7. B7 trots to first base and is about 50 feet down the line when the umpire notices the pitching coach for Team A out of the dugout and walking towards the pitching mound. Team A's pitching coach is requesting time as he approaches the foul line. The umpire judges no additional activity is likely to happen once B7 reaches first base, although B7 has not yet reached first base.
 - a. The umpire should grant Team A's timeout request.
 - b. The umpire should wait until B7 reaches first base, then immediately grant time.
 - c. The umpire should wait until B7 reaches first base and stops, then grant time only if again requested by either team.

11. B4 hits the ball into fair territory near home plate. B4 drops the bat immediately and without any intent to do anything but run to first base. The dropped bat strikes the ball in fair territory. The ball then rolls completely into foul territory, where F2 picks it up. The umpire judges the ball would have remained fair had it not been struck by B4's dropped bat.
 - a. Fair ball...play on.
 - b. Foul ball...B4 returns to the plate to finish his at bat.
 - c. This is interference, and B4 is declared out.

12. B1 hits a ground ball to F6. F6 fields the ball and throws to F3, but the ball skips. F3 does not catch the ball in his glove or hand but is able to pin the ball against his chest with his forearm just before B1 touches first base.
 - a. B1 is safe. F1 did not legally catch the ball.
 - b. B1 is out. F1 had secure possession of the ball when he pinned it against his body.

13. B2 hits a bounding ball down the third base line. About 60 feet down the line the ball touches foul territory and the umpire immediately signals and declares the ball foul. The still bounding ball strikes the third base bag moments later and continues bounding into the outfield.
 - a. Fair ball. The umpire's initial mistake is correctable.
 - b. Foul ball. Because a bounding ball was declared foul, the mistake cannot be corrected.
 - c. The erroneous foul ball call can be corrected if the umpire judges the players did not react to the erroneous foul call and thus the call did not affect the outcome of the play.

14. B7 swings at a pitch as R1 is stealing second base. B1 misses the ball and his bat comes completely around and strikes F2 in the shoulder with his bat as F2 was attempting a play on R1.
 - a. This is follow-through interference.
 - b. This is backswing interference.

15. The definition of "Time of Pitch" includes when the pitcher is on the pitcher's plate, in a set position, and starts any motion to pitch with his arms or legs after coming to a clear and discernable stop.
 - a. True
 - b. False

16. Team A lists Andrews as a CF/DH in the 1 spot of the lineup. In the 4th inning, Richardson substitutes as the center fielder. In the 7th inning, Andrews re-enters defensively in centerfield.
 - a. Legal. Andrews is entitled to re-enter on defense since he was a starter. The DH remains intact because Richardson never participated in an offensive role.
 - b. Illegal. A position player may not occupy two positions in a lineup.
 - c. Legal provided that Andrews was removed for concussion protocol. Richardson is now removed from the game.

 - d. Legal only if the teammate F6 is throwing to during the conference was already playing defensively at that time.

18. During a pitching change, Team B's Head Coach stands behind the mound while the new pitcher is warming up. This coach proceeds back to his dugout as his pitcher concludes his warmup pitches.
- Legal, but Team B is charged a defensive conference.
 - Illegal. Team B's Head Coach must return to his dugout once he has made a pitching change.
 - Legal provided that he does not discuss strategy with the other defensive players.
 - Legal provided that Team B's Head Coach leaves when such warmup pitches are complete and does not delay the game.
19. Team B's head coach visits his starting pitcher in the bottom of the 1st inning. The umpire goes to the mound to end the conference, but before he tells the coach the conference has ended the coach asks for maintenance to the mound. The umpire agrees that maintenance is needed and directs a maintenance crew to take care of the issue. That head coach never leaves the vicinity of the pitcher's mound and continues to talk to his pitcher after the mound is taken care of. The umpire returns to the mound and for the first time tells the coach he must end the visit.
- Do not charge Team B a defensive conference as this was for the purpose of field maintenance.
 - Charge Team B two defensive conferences as the coach conferred with players after the maintenance was complete.
 - Charge Team B only one defensive conference as the initial conference had never ended.
 - Charge Team B only one defensive conference, however the Team B head coach continued to talk to his pitcher after the maintenance finished and should be given an official warning.

21. F1 finished the bottom of the 4th inning defensively. In the bottom of the 5th inning, F1 does not come out of the dugout. Instead, S2 walks to the mound and picks up the game ball. S2's coach has not reported any substitution to the umpire. While on the mound and with the baseball in his hand before beginning his eight warm up pitches, S2's head coach tells him to return to the dugout, which S2 does immediately. F1 then goes to the mound and begins warming up.
- S2 must face one batter unless he becomes incapacitated or ejected. F1 is removed from the game and may not return to pitch in that game.
 - F1 may still pitch because S1 had not begun his warm-up pitches and was therefore not in the game. Had S1 thrown a warmup pitch, he would have been legally in the game.
 - S2 must face one batter unless he becomes incapacitated or ejected. F1 may still be eligible to return under the re-entry rule.
 - F1 may still pitch. S1 never entered the game because he had not been announced, nor was he an unannounced substitute because the ball had not become live while S1 was in contact with the pitcher's plate.

22. A uniformed player is spotted behind the backstop operating a video camera.
- Legal if it was for an authorized purpose.
 - Illegal. A coach, player, substitute, attendant or other bench personnel may not be outside the dugout or bullpen area unless he is a batter, runner, on-deck hitter or one of the nine defensive players. It would have been legal if the video camera was operated in the dugout.
 - Legal provided this player's head coach notifies on the lineup card that such player is not participating in the game and the umpire-in-chief approves such request.
 - Illegal. Videotaping outside of the dugout is not legal, whether the camera is attended or unattended.

24. An umpire must always issue a verbal warning prior to ejecting a player or coach.
- Correct. The only accepted process is to first issue a verbal warning, then a written warning, and only then can a coach or player be ejected.
 - Not correct. An umpire must issue a verbal or written warning before any ejection, but both warning types are not required.
 - Not correct. Some conduct may be immediately judged by the umpire as major, and therefore an immediate ejection is warranted, whether warnings were previously given or not.
25. B4, playing for Team A, unintentionally throws his bat and it strikes the catcher.
- It was careless, but it was judged to be unintentional, so there is no action required of the umpire.
 - It was careless, but it was judged to be unintentional. The umpire shall issue a warning to the head coach of Team A. Going forward, any player from Team A that carelessly throws a bat shall be ejected.

 - Team A still has a 9-player lineup but has terminated the DH. Jones has left the game but can return. S1 Smith is now in the lineup in the fourth spot in the batting order.
 - Team A still has a 9-player lineup but could switch to a 10-man lineup if the coach immediately informs the umpire Jones will continue to pitch and S1 Smith will be the DH.

 - Legal provided that the head coach notified the plate umpire prior to the plate meeting.
 - Legal provided that such wristband is not deemed to be distracting by the umpire.
59. R1, 1 out, 2-1 Count; F1 takes the set position with his pivot foot entirely in parallel and in contact with the front edge of the pitcher's plate. F1's non-pivot foot is entirely in front of his pivot foot (towards home plate) but is not completely within the plane of each end of the pitcher's plate. F1 then delivers a called strike.

 - Illegal Pitch
60. R2, R3, 2 outs, 1-1 count; While the ball is live, F1 is tying his left shoe approximately 4' away from the pitcher's plate without the ball. F6 has the ball in his glove while F1 is tying his shoe. R2, unaware F6 has the ball, steps off second base and is tagged by F6 while off the base.
- This is a balk. R3 is awarded home, and R2 is awarded third base. B1 remains at bat with a 1-1 count and two outs.
 - Legal. R2 is out and the inning is over.
 - This is nothing. The ball is dead because F1 was tying his shoe, and time out is declared automatically when a player is correcting an equipment issue. R2 remains at second base, R3 remains at third base, and B1 continues with a 1-1 count with two outs.
 - Unsporting Conduct. R3 remains at third base, R2 remains at second base, B1 remains at bat with a 1-1 count and two outs. F1 and his team receive a warning for unsporting behavior.

64. B1 is at bat with 1 out and a count of two balls and two strikes and R1 on first base. R1 steals on the pitch. B1 swings and misses but the ball then hits B1 on his arm. No play is made on R1 at second base.
- Call B1 out on interference and since R1 was stealing, he is allowed to stay at second.
 - Call B1 out on strike three and since R1 was stealing, he is allowed to stay at second.
 - Call B1 out on strike three and call out R1.
 - Call time when the ball hits B1, call out B1 on strike three, return R1 to first base.
 - Call time when the ball hits B1, call out B1 on strike three, allow R1 to remain on second.

65. With R2 on second base, B1 is batting with a 1-1 count and no outs. B1 hits a high pop up in foul territory just beyond first base. B1's first base coach clearly tries to get out of F3's way but still contacts him and hinders his attempt to catch the ball. The umpire judges the contact between the base coach unintentional.
- This is interference. R2 is declared out and B1 resumes batting with a 1-2 count.
 - This is interference. B1 is declared out and R2 is awarded third base.
 - This is interference. B1 is declared out and R2 remains at second base.
 - Legal. R2 remains at second base and B1 resumes his at-bat with a 1-2 count.
 - None of these answers are correct.
66. R1 is on first base and B7 is the next batter in the batting order, but B8 comes up to bat instead of B7. With the count 2 balls and 2 strikes and one out, R1 steals second base. B8 walks on the next pitch. Before the pitch to the next batter, the head coach comes to the plate umpire and says that B8 batted out of order.
- Declare B8 for batting out of order and remove him from first base. R1 is returned to first base, which is where he was when B8 started his improper at-bat. B9 now starts his at-bat.
 - Declare B7 out for failing to bat. R2 remains at second base because he reached second base unrelated to anything B8 when he was batting. B8 is removed from first base and now starts his at-bat.
 - Declare B7 out for failing to bat and declare B8 out for batting out of order, ending the inning.
 - Declare B7 out for failing to bat. All other play stands. R1 remains at second base and B8 remains at first base, now with two outs. B9 starts his at-bat.
67. B5 is batting instead of the proper batter B4 with R3 on third base. With a 2-2 count and two outs, B5 swings at the next pitch and misses. F2 does not catch the ball and B5 runs to first base due to the dropped third strike. F2 throws to F3, but B5 is called out. R3 touches the plate before B5 is thrown out. Before the next pitch to B6, the head coach comes to the plate umpire and says that B5 batted out of order.
- Declare B4 out for failing to bat. R3's run counts as his advancement was only due to the play remaining live because of an uncaught 3rd strike and he touched the plate before the last out was recorded.
 - Declare B5 out for batting out of order. R3's run is nullified.
 - B4 is declared out for failing to bat. Since the third out was made by the batter-runner, who technically did not reach first base, R3's run does not count. B5 is the batter to start the next inning.
 - B5's is out is the last out of the inning, so no batting out of order appeal is allowed. Since the third out was made by the batter-runner, who technically did not reach first base, R3's run does not count. B6 is the batter to start the next inning.
68. B1 is batting with one out and a count of 2-1 and R1 on first base. R1 takes off for second base as the pitch is released. B1 swings at the pitch and fouls the ball straight back into the screen. When B1's bat contacted the ball B1's foot was partially in the batter's box and in contact with the plate.
- Illegally batted ball. The ball is immediately dead. B1 is declared out and R1 is returned to first base.
 - Foul ball because it was hit foul. B1 continues his at-bat with a count of 2-2 and R1 is returned to first base.
 - Foul ball because B1 was in contact with the plate. R1 is returned to first base, and B1 continues his at-bat with a 2-2 count.
 - Foul ball because B1's foot was still partially in the batter's box. His foot being in partial contact with the plate is irrelevant. B1 continues his at-bat with a 2-2 count and R1 is returned to first base.

69. B3 batting with a 2-1 count and one out. R2 on second base. As F1 begins his pitching motion, R2 attempts to steal third base. B3 swings at the pitch and misses. B3's momentum carries him across the plate and makes contact with F2 at the same time F2 was trying to make a throw to third and make a play on R2. The ball thrown by F2 bounces twice before getting to third base, and R2 is standing on third before the ball arrives.
- This is interference. The plate umpire shall declare the interference and call time immediately. R2 is declared out and B3 continues his at-bat with a 2-2 count.
 - This is interference. The plate umpire should immediately point at the batter and announce the interference and let play continue. Since R3 was not tagged out on this particular play, the interference is enforced. Since there were less than two outs at the time of the interference, B3 is declared out and R2 is returned to second base.
 - This is interference. The plate umpire should immediately point at the batter and announce the interference and let play continue. Since R3 was not tagged out on this particular play, the interference is enforced. R2, as the runner being played on, is declared out and B3 continues his at-bat with a 2-2 count.
 - This may or may not be interference. If the plate umpire judges R2 would have been safe anyway, the interference is cancelled.
70. B2 is batting with one out and a count of 2-1. R2 is at second base. R2 attempts to steal third on the pitch. B2, who bats right-handed, after (a) swinging OR (b) not swinging at the pitch is still completely in his batter's box. In (a), B2 remains completely within the batter's box and does not contact F2 with his bat, and in (b) stays completely still and completely within the batter's box, not having time to do anything else. In both (a) and (b) F2 tries to throw to third to make a play on R2, but in both cases F2's throw hits B2 and deflects away. R2 gets to third base without any additional play.
- In both (a) and (b) it is interference. The batter must make an attempt to get out of the way of F2.
 - It is interference in (a), but not (b).
 - It is interference in (b), but not (a).
 - The batter is legal in both (a) and (b)
71. B6 is batting right-handed and has a 1-1 count with R3 at third base and one out. As the pitch is released, R3 breaks for home and B6 squares to bunt. B6 misses the bunt and unintentionally but clearly interferes with F2's attempt to tag out R3, who slides across the plate untagged.
- Legal play since the contact was unintentional. R3 scores and B6 continues his at-bat with a 1-2 count.
 - This is interference on B6. B6 is declared out and R3 scores.
 - This is interference on B6. B6 is declared out and R3 is returned to third.
 - This is interference on B6. R3 is declared out and B6 continues his at-bat with 1-2 count. The penalty would have been different if the interference had happened with two outs.

72. B9 is using a wood bat in the bottom of the 7th in a game tied at 3-3 and two outs. R3 is on third base. With the count at 3-2, B9 hits a ground ball towards F1. B9's bat breaks in two pieces and one of pieces hits F1 as he tries to field the batted ball. F1 trips and falls as a result of the broken bat piece striking him and is unable to make a throw to F3 to make a play on B9, who touches first base without a play. R3 crosses the plate without a play.
- This is interference. A batter is responsible for his bat, broken or otherwise. B9 is declared out, R3's run is nullified, and the game continues into the 8th inning.
 - This is potential interference. The umpire must judge whether B9 would have been safe anyway. If so, the broken bat is ignored. R3 scores and the game is over.
 - This is a legal play. B9 is not responsible for a broken bat hitting a defensive player. When the broken bat piece hit F3 the ball remained live. B9 was safe on the play and R3 scores. The game is over.
73. There are two outs and B2 has a count of 0-2. R1 is on first base and breaks for second base on the next pitch. B2 swings and misses the 0-2 pitch, which is not caught by F2. B2 runs to first base and makes it without a play. The defensive coach says B2 is out on the uncaught third strike because first base was occupied at the time of the pitch.
- B2 is out for the swinging strike three because R1 occupied first base at the time of the pitch. It does not matter if F2 threw the ball or not and the inning is over.
 - B2 can legally try to run from the plate to first base on this play, even though R1 started on first base, because there were already two outs.
 - B2 can legally try to run from the plate to first base on this play because R2 was attempting to steal on the play and therefore first base was considered not occupied at the time of the pitch.
74. With R1 and R2 and 1 out and a count of 1-1, B5 hits a high pop-up near the bag at first base. Infield fly is declared. As F3 is tracking the ball, R1 bumps into him on his way back to the bag. U1 calls interference. (A) The ball is caught by F3 in fair territory; (B) The ball is caught by F3 in foul territory. R1 is properly called out for interference, but what happens to the BR?
- In A, the BR is out because the ball was caught.
 - In A, the BR is out on the infield fly.
 - In B, the BR is out because the ball was caught.
 - In B, the BR is returned to bat with a 1-2 count because the ball was in foul territory, therefore, no infield fly rule applied.
 - A & C
 - B & D
75. B1 hits a fair ball in front of home plate. Both the batter-runner and catcher make contact while trying to complete their respective responsibilities.
- The catcher has the right to field the batted ball; this is interference.
 - The runner has the right to the baseline; this is obstruction.
 - This is neither interference nor obstruction if neither player attempts to alter the play.

76. With R1 and no outs, B1 hits a ground ball towards the second baseman. The pitcher deflects the ball and while F4 is attempting to field the ball, R1 unintentionally runs into F4. What is the correct ruling?
- This is nothing because the ball was touched by F1.
 - This is nothing because there was no intent.
 - This is obstruction on F4. Once the ball was touched by F1, the defense must give way to all runners.
 - This is interference by R1. Even though the ball was deflected by F1, the runner must not hinder or impede a fielder who is making a play on a batted ball.
77. With R2 and 1 out, B3 hits a ground ball towards F6. The pitcher reaches out and deflects the ball which then hits R2 in the foot. There was no intent by R2 to get hit by the batted ball.
- R2 has not committed an infraction since getting hit by the ball was unintentional.
 - This is interference by R2 and he is out. Place the BR at first base.
 - This is interference by R2 and both he and the BR are out.
78. With R1 and no outs, F3 is playing in towards the plate in anticipation of a bunt. B9 hits a ground ball which hits R1 behind F3. R1 did not intentionally allow himself to be hit by the ball.
- Since the ball has passed F3, R1 is not out in any case.
 - Even though the ball passed F3, if F4 was able to make a play on the ball, then R1 is out.
 - If a double play was possible, then R1 and the BR are both out.
 - The BR is also out only if F3 allowed himself to be hit with the ball intentionally.
 - B & C
79. With R1 and no outs and R1 stealing on the pitch, B2 hits a ground ball to F6 who throws to F4 at 2nd base to attempt to put out R1. The throw arrives after R1 touches second base. R1 slides into F4, who is on the third base side of the bag, but R1 can reach 2B with his hand. F4 attempts to throw to 1st base to retire the BR but is unable to complete the play because of R1 sliding into him.
- The play stands. Because R1 beat the play and was safe, there is no force play infraction.
 - Even though R1 beat the throw at 2B, he is out for interference and the batter runner is awarded 1B.
 - This is interference on force play. Both R1 and the BR are out, even though R1 beat the throw to 2B.
 - None of the above.
80. With R1 and no outs, B3 hits a hard ground ball to F6. As R1 approaches second and is 8 feet from the base, he does not slide but goes in standing up, straight in towards the bag. F4 is on the bag and pivots to make the throw to first to retire the BR but hesitates and the throw to first is late.
- Runners are never required to slide, so there is no violation. R1 is out on the force play, and the BR is safe at first.
 - While R1 is not required to slide, if he chooses not to slide, he also cannot alter the play. This is interference on a force play and both R1 and the BR are out. R1 is out on the force play, and the BR is out for R1's interference.
 - R1 is far enough from the bag that he is not expected to slide, so there is no violation. R1 is out on the force play, and the BR is safe at first.

81. With R3 and 1 out, B1 hits a pop-up which is coming down close to the third base bag. R3 returns to the base and is standing on 2B side of the bag. F5 is about to settle under the ball but bumps into R3 and is unable to make the catch. The ball drops and hits the ground near R3's foot that was not in contact with the base.
- There is no violation on this play since the contact was unintentional. R3 is allowed to stay on third, and B1 is safe at first.
 - R3 is protected from interference because he was in contact with his legally occupied base. There is no violation on this play. R3 is allowed to stay on third, and B1 is safe at first.
 - This is interference on R3. While the runner is not required to vacate the bag, he also may not interfere. R3 is declared out for the interference, and B1 is awarded first.
82. With R3 and no outs the offense attempts a squeeze play. B2 bunts the ball and F1 throws home late to retire R3. F2 then throws to first to retire the BR, who is running illegally outside the running lane the last half of the distance to first base. The throw hits the BR in the shoulder, and he is declared out for runner's lane interference. What happens to R3?
- R3 is placed back to third because runner's lane interference results in all runners returned to their base(s) occupied at the time of the pitch.
 - R3 scores because there was an intervening play at the plate.
 - R3 scores because runners are placed at the base(s) occupied at the time of the interference.
83. With R1 and no outs, B3 hits a ground ball to F4 who throws to F6 to start the attempted double-play. F6 receives the throw on the bag and is still on the bag when R1 slides directly into and through the base. There was no malicious contact and R1's foot was below the knee.
- Because R1 slid through the bag, this is a force play slide violation. R1 and the BR are out.
 - This is a legal slide. Even though R1 ended up past the bag, F6 was on the bag at the time R1 first contacted him and since the slide was otherwise legal, there is no infraction.
 - This is malicious contact by rule. R1 is out and ejected.

- 84.
- The batter is out for interfering with the catcher.
 - This is catcher's obstruction. The offense gets an option to take the results of the play or the penalty for the obstruction if the batter and all runners did not advance at least one base on the play.

85. Bases loaded and two outs. B1 hits an uncaught fly ball to center field that rolls to the wall. B1 and all baserunners cross the plate. The defense successfully appeals that the runner that started at second base failed to touch the third base.
- No runs score because the appeal was successful at a base R2 was forced to.
 - R3, R1, and B1 all score and R2 is declared out on the appeal.
 - R3 scores because he was in front of the runner called out on appeal. R1 and B1 do not score because they trailed the runner called out on appeal for the third out of the inning.
86. Bases loaded in the bottom of the 7th inning. The game is tied. F1 delivers four balls to B5.
- The umpire(s) immediately declare the game over and leave the field.
 - The umpires declare the game over and leave the field as soon as R3 touches the plate for the walk-off run.
 - The umpires declare the game over and leaves the field as soon as all runners have touched the bases they were forced to by the base on balls.
